DOLAN SCHOOL OF BUSINESS STUDY ABROAD

Studying abroad is a valuable opportunity for students in the Dolan School of Business. It allows them to learn from different cultures, broaden their perspectives, and develop their global skills and network.

Global Fairfield has historical partnerships in each of the locations below where business students can take coursework and internships related to their field of study:

- Florence University of the Arts (FUA): Florence, Italy (Long / Short)
- Instituto Químic de Sarrià (IQS): Barcelona, Spain
- Institute for American Universities (IAU): Aix-en-Provence, France
- London School of Economics (LSE): London, United Kingdom
- Maastricht University: Maastricht, Netherlands
- University of Sydney: Sydney, Australia
- Babeş-Bolyai University: Cluj-Napoca, Romania
- Universidad Católica del Uruguay: Montevideo, Uruguay

Obtaining Credit:

- Students receive Fairfield credit and grade when they participate in a global program that is directly sponsored by Fairfield University. The grades achieved while abroad impact the student's GPA at Fairfield.
- Students receive Transfer credits when they participate in a program that is facilitated by a third-party institution, such as the London School of Economics. In this case, students received the transfer credit of "T" as long as they achieve the equivalent of a "C" grade or better while abroad, thus not impacting their GPA at Fairfield.
- Credit information can be found below on the program location page.
- Certain approved courses abroad are restricted for students from certain majors, such as Consumer Behavior for Marketing majors, as they are required to complete these courses at Fairfield. The courses remain approved for other majors to take as electives.
- Marketing Majors/Minors may not take any of their core Marketing courses abroad: Global Marketing, Consumer Behavior, or Marketing Research and cannot take more than one Marketing elective abroad.
- Dolan School of Business students cannot take more than 2 Major courses while abroad.

Criteria to Study Abroad:

- Students need to maintain a minimum GPA of 2.80 in order be eligible for any of the Fairfield study abroad programs.
- Programs such as Maastricht University and the London School of Economics require a minimum 3.85 GPA in order for students to be nominated to apply, due to the academic rigor of program.

Growth Opportunities:

- Global Fairfield has established partnerships with several prestigious institutions abroad, such as Sogang University in South Korea and University of Galway in Ireland. These partner universities are AASCB accredited and would welcome students from the Dolan School of Business as we expand program offerings for your majors.
- Existing recommended locations for Dolan students, such as Florence University of the Arts, have opportunities for growth in areas such as Finance, Wine Marketing, and more.
